THINK
green
then make it happen

There are many things we can do to combat the changes we are experiencing in our environment.

It is up to each and every individual to help slow down the process of global warming. You need to arm yourself with knowledge in order to combat this problem. You need to do your own homework to help familiarize yourself with the facts. There is a lot of information available to help you understand this process and your role in it.

Planting trees and shrubs around your home can help keep your home cool in the summer. Trees and shrubs also absorb carbon monoxide and this can help the air you breathe and your environment. There are many types of greenery to choose from and you can find something that will fit your taste.
