

Playplan.com is a website where caregivers of children of all ages can come to create their daily or weekly 'plan'. The site features daily-updated local activities, events, and ideas which will keep kids learning, active and entertained... making the caregivers job easier and more fulfilling.

playplan.proposal

we believe in the power of play.

we believe in the power of a plan.

Raising children is like working for the world's toughest boss. Their main concern is getting you to do what they want, when they want. Their daily needs seem to multiply each day they age. They don't care if you're tired, they don't care if you're bored. They need to eat like, ALL THE TIME. Every day is the same, and yet, completely different.

We realize that sometimes the key to keeping you sane, is to keep THEM busy. We realize that, as a caregiver, you know all about busy. You don't have time to spend hours surfing the web for the newest, coolest thing to do with your kids. You don't have time to scope out activities ahead of time to make sure you're providing the best options for each situation. You don't have time to drive all around town looking for the best park, the most creative storytime, each city's special event. You just need a plan.

You've come to the right place.

we are playplan.